The Intelligencer.

WHEELING, JUNE 21, 1892.

FIRST DISTRICT
Congressional Convention.

A convention of the First Congressional District Republicans will be held in the city of Wheeling, W. Va., on Thursday, July 14, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Congress for said district to be voted for at the election to be held in November next, and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

W. E. STATHERS,
Chairman Congressional Committee.

JOSEPH C. BRADY, Secretary.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,

BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

WHITELAND REID,
Of New York.

"One Good Term Deserves Another."

OHIO COUNTY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR SHERIFF,

T. C. MOFFAT.

FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY,

SAMUEL O. BOYCE.

FOR SENATOR, CITY DISTRICT,

W. H. HURNISH.

FOR SENATOR, COUNTRY DISTRICT,

ROBERT ANDERSON.

FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR,

JAMES GILCHRIST.

FOR MEMBERS HOUSE OF DELEGATES,

S. G. SMITH,

G. H. MEDICK,

C. J. RAWLING,

ALEX. MCULLOCH.

THE resolution, energy and persistence which marked the proceedings of the convention at Minneapolis will, it is turned against the common foe, win the election in November.

All minor differences should be merged in the duty of every Republican to do all in his power to elect the ticket this day nominated by the national Republican convention.

JAMES O. BLAINE.

In New York.

Until somebody tells, nobody can know what passed between Secretary Tracey and ex-Senator Platt at Manhattan Beach. We may suppose that General Tracey said to Mr. Platt that it would be very gratifying if he would take hold and do what he can to carry New York for the Republican ticket, and that Mr. Platt replied that, being a Republican, nothing could give him more pleasure.

The idea of party men sulking because they have not had their way about nominations is too absurd to waste thought on. When you come to such an organized appetite as Tammany you strike something of a very different order.

Tammanys are not party men. They are Tammany men before everything. They hitch onto the Democratic party because that comes nearest to their inclination and suits their purpose best, but they have been known to deal for the plunder. With Tammany the plunder is the thing. New York Republicans, of whatever faction, are not the Tammany sort.

Our Boys at the Front.

We hear with deep regret that there were some fights in the West Virginia delegation at Chicago; with further regret that the dashing Col. St. Clair talked too hard for his man and got him knocked out; with acute pain that there was a little scrimmage between the Hon. John J. Davis and our friend Col. James B. Taney for the honor of preparing the party's platform.

But there is this consolation—National Committeeman Sheridan is a good man for the place, and Colonel Taney put on the platform of 1892 the impression of his well known classic style. The INTELLIGENCER is glad to be able to assure the Democracy of West Virginia that things at Chicago might be going very much worse.

The West Virginia delegation starts handsomely and is certain to bear itself with courage and credit to the end.

The Committee and the Convention. Mr. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, had a shorter pole than Mr. Owens, of Kentucky, and didn't knock the persimmons. He would make an excellent presiding officer, but this is not what the national committee was thinking of. Mr. Watterson wanted at least one drop of Cleveland gore, and, so far as the committee could give it to him, he got it.

There is talk, of course, of trying to upset Owens, but there will be a good deal of counting of noses before that is attempted. To try and fail would be bad for Mr. Cleveland's cause, which now seems to be in fine trim.

The adverse action of a national committee does not necessarily loom up as a prophecy of the action of the convention. The committee laughs first, but the convention laughs last.

Putting on the screws.

The Pennsylvania delegation at Chicago insists upon the unit rule. If the fight be transferred to the convention the unit rule will be likely to prevail, for it is an old established, though very bad, Democratic custom.

The Republican rule, which recognizes the right of every delegate to poll his own vote in his own way, is the right rule. It is monstrous that the people of a delegate district cannot have their will expressed in a convention by the delegates of their own choosing.

It would be as reasonable for the senators and the representatives in Congress to caucus and force the whole state representation to go the way of the majority.

One of these days the Democratic party will fling the unit rule in the junk pile, as the Republican party has done. That rule has no place in a body of representative Americans.

Why This Ominous Silence?

Only a little while ago our Democratic friends had much to say about office-holders at conventions.

Five of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet officers are on the spot legging for him, to say nothing of a horde of men who held office under him, who hope to fatten at his crib once more, who helped to nominate him in 1888 and have no doubt that they are helping to nominate him again.

Strange, isn't it, that the Democratic newspapers are not filling themselves with comments on this phase of the situation at Chicago.

A Guess.

For President,

Grover Cleveland,

of

New York,

New Jersey

and Massachusetts.

For Vice-President,

Isaac Pusey Gray,

SENATOR GORMAN's devotion to Mr. Cleveland and his fortunes is one of the touching spectacles of the convention. And the way his friends are booming Cleveland must fill that gentleman's heart with more gratitude than he can express in a few feeble words at short range. The Gorman movement for Cleveland should secure for Mr. Gorman anything he may desire in the remote event of Mr. Cleveland's election to the Presidency.

At Chicago as at Minneapolis the national committee has chosen for temporary chairman one who is opposed to the candidate who has a majority of the convention at his back. At Chicago as at Minneapolis the selection of the national committee could be turned down, but will not be. When a majority is sure of its ground it is apt to feel that it need not bother about the skirmish line.

COL. ST. CLAIR's colleagues should have remembered that he does not always mean all the tart things he says. Otherwise it would now appear that the Democracy of West Virginia, through its chosen representatives at Chicago, had put on the national committee a henchman of the monopolistic interests of the state; which would be something quite too bad.

MR. WATTERSON's Democratic soul is on fire. He can't stand the crowd of Cleveland office-holders who are booming the Stuffed Prophet, and he doesn't take kindly to the idea of nominating a man who can't possibly be elected. Probably nobody else could be elected, but to nominate a sure loser is something the able Kentuckian can't abide.

MR. CLEVELAND "will remain undisturbed by the clamor of political factions," and two telegraph wires making direct connection with the convention hall will help keep his great mind free from so much as the disturbing echo of the balloting.

EX-SENATOR WALLACE, of Pennsylvania, though a delegate, is not in it to any appreciable extent. His glory has departed. Has his party forgotten his distinguished services as an old master in the coffee-pot coloring of naturalization papers?

For a Democrat from a state that is Republican by 80,000, Mr. Cleveland's ex-postmaster Harry, of Philadelphia, is cutting a wide swath. What is Pennsylvania to Cleveland, or Cleveland to Pennsylvania?

WHILE Cleveland lives it will be useless for any other Democrat or Nominump to aspire to a presidential nomination at the hands of the Democratic party. He has hoodooed the outfit.

ISAAC PUSEY GRAY may be a great man, although he doesn't write his own speeches, and yet it will be a long time before he will have to make a contract for a letter of acceptance.

THE Tammany tiger's lone howl is heard on the shores of Lake Michigan. When the tiger gets that far away from home his howl is the most there is of him.

If Cleveland were President, Harry would be his chief executioner. It would be a real delight to have your head cut off by Harry.

HENRY GEORGE is in Chicago shouting for Cleveland and free trade. Mr. George is logical.

MR. CLEVELAND seems to have what the boys call a lead pipe cinch on it.

When the services are ended and the corpse is laid away, the mourners go to bed and will and rouse from grave to gay.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

A return card sent from London to Hong Kong via Vancouver on the 19th of March reached its destination April 28, and within three hours was on its way to London on a P. & O. steamer, arriving in London, May 30, or around the world in seventy days.

It is said of the late Samuel McDonald Richardson, of Baltimore, that he was personally acquainted with nearly 47,000 depositors in the savings bank of which he was president, all of them working people of small means.

PERSONAL POINTS.

King Oscar of Sweden, who is now visiting in Paris, is a man of tall and spare figure, with white hair and beard that were black when he was last in the French capital. He enjoys excellent health. When the king visited President Carnot at the Elysee he wore the medal granted him by the French government for throwing himself before two horses that were running away with a carriage filled with ladies.

Queen Victoria casually encountered a circus the other day while she was driving up the Deeside from Balmoral, and at once commanded a performance. She remained two hours on the ground looking at the performance from her carriage, with several other illustrious deadheads.

Martin A. Ryerson's gift of $150,000 to the Chicago University, coming so close upon Mr. Cobb's generous subscription, makes it doubly certain that the $1,000,000 required will be secured within the time limit. Only $200,000 more is needed.—Chicago News.

During the recent ceremonies at Capra, in commemoration of the death of Garibaldi, while a crowd of visitors were trying to drink from the well dug by Garibaldi, the platform gave way and ten persons fell into the well, one being seriously injured.

DAVID AND THE TIGER.

It is announced that Senator Hill will not attend the Chicago convention. In this he may be wise, as the proceedings there will probably interest him but little after the first or second ballot.—Boston Advertiser (Rep.).

The Tammany tiger may unwillingly have his claws cut off and his teeth pulled out this week in Chicago. A great many hunters for big game are after the sleek beast from Gotham.—New York Press (Rep.).

Lightning struck five persons in Chicago yesterday. Hill was sorry that he was not there until he heard that it was not of the presidential variety and its victims were not politicians.—Troy Times (Rep.).

What a malignant insult Mr. Watterson threw at David B. Hill when he said, "We are between the devil and the deep sea." For, of course, Grover is the deep C.—Omaha Bee (Rep.).

"Rally round the Hill, boys," will be no go this time. James Buchanan was the last bachelor President, and the American people never want another.—Chicago Inter-Ocean (Rep.).

No one can deny that Hill has some of the brass instruments, but Cleveland has nearly all of the brass bands and most of the delegates.—Pittsburgh Dispatch (Ind. Rep.).

How long has it been since Tammany Hall has favored anything or anybody favored by Democrats outside of Tammany Hall?—St. Louis Republic (Dem.).

The Tammany tiger is after blood at Chicago, and can not be appeased with candy and ice cream.—St. Louis Globe Democrat (R. P.).

Senator Hill will try and hear the news in Washington. In any other place it would be as depressing.—Boston Herald (Dem.).

Tin Plate Prices.

Tin plate keeps on getting a little cheaper every month under the growth of American tin plate production. The 92,363,462 pounds imported in April, 1891, were valued at $67 cents a pound. The imports for March, 1892, were valued at 2.87 cents a pound, and the 70,480,102

pounds imported in April, 1892, at 2.8

cents a pound. Tin plate is a little cheaper every month. Why? Because as home production increases the foreign producer pays more of the "tariff tax." He has to.

CEASAR's famous "Veni, vidi, vici"—I came, I saw, I conquered—might be an appropriate motto for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. We change nothing for the suggestion. This great blood purifier conquers wherever it comes, and is now absolutely without equal in the world.

A LADY ADVISES LADIES.

A Few Secrets from Her Own Experience Which can be Profitably Adopted by Others.

I know a charming lady who knows more beautiful and attractive women than any other woman in this city. In conversation recently, she said: "I often feel very sorry when I see so many beautiful women so delicate and suffering so much, and I have often asked myself what the reason is? I think ladies do not exercise the proper care. They do not see enough to their feet, their feet, their necks, their chests. In this way they open the door for diseases and those thousands of troubles which so often afflict womanhood, but worse than all they allow their life and strength to run down to a low ebb. How many women we see constantly in this condition. They need something to depend upon, something that will assist them, some friend in need. I know this, largely from my own experience, for I was once in the same condition myself. I thought the matter over carefully, and decided what I would do. I knew I needed a gentle, constant stimulant, something that would assist my vital forces, keep my blood flowing and act as a tonic. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and its effect has been simply wonderful. I do not know what pink sickness or weakness was, and I am satisfied that ladies generally could be in the same happy condition by a proper use of the same means. This lady's remarks are entitled to the greatest consideration for they indicate the need of what hundreds of ladies have found to be a necessity. It should be borne in mind, however, that it is only pure whiskey which should ever be used, and that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only one which receives the endorsement of scientists and the recommendations of physicians. Do not allow any druggist or grocer to induce you to take any other."

HERE'S FUN.

"I went to the play last night," said Farmer Begosh, "and I tell ye it was mighty fine. One of the fellows was a Farmers' Alliance man." "How did you know, Silas?" said his wife. "Because he kept a hollerin' every once in while, 'What, hoe without there!'"—Washington Star.

Burglar (flashing his dark lantern in the face of the sleeper)—"If you make a noise you're a dead man! I want your money and I want it quick! Where is it?" Mr. Billus (only half awake)—"Why, Great Scott, Maria! What have you done with the $25 I gave you yesterday?"—Chicago Tribune.

The minister's wife (to industrial scholar)—"Eliza Jane, I am sorry to hear from your schoolmistress you are not diligent at your needlework. You know who it is finds work for idle hands to do?" Eliza Jane (intensely anxious to propitiate)—"Yes'm; please'm, you do."—Tut-Bis.

Conductor—"What has happened? Why did you pull the bell cord?" Passenger—"My wife's hat fell out of the window." Conductor—"And for such a trifle you stop the train?" Passenger—"Trifle? You ought to see my wife's hat bill."—Fleegende Blätter.

"Dante?" remarked Mrs. Brownley, interrogatively. "No, I don't know as I ever heard of him. But the name is familiar, too. Oh, yes! Ann Dante! I knew I had heard of somebody by that name. Wonder if it was his daughter?"—Boston Transcript.

"Is Smith a smart lawyer?" "Very. Man went to him with a case involving $150. Said he was willing to spend $1,500 to get it back. Smith made him out a bill right off for $1,350."—Brooklyn Life.

"Henry, I'm afraid that new girl of ours is one of those anarchists." "Eh?" She seems to believe in the total demolition of property."—Indianapolis Journal.

"Are you familiar with musical terms?" asked the manager's friend. "Yes," replied the manager; "last week's salary or I don't sing."—Washington Star.

EYES FILLED WITH TEARS.

President Harrison's Sympathy With High in His Bereavement.

Interview With Chamberlain M. Depea.

"I have never in my life been so thoroughly impressed with the greatness of President Harrison as I was during my long interview with him yesterday. I was alone with him when the message announcing the sudden death of Emmons Blaine came. The man who accuses him of being a cold man would never repeat that accusation had he been in my place. The eyes of the President filled with tears, and he spoke to me with evidence of grief at the severe loss of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine. The President at once dictated a message of condolence, and he did not recover his spirits during the rest of our conference. The reason many people call him cold is because he is so frank and transparent in all he does. I have known personally all the Presidents since Lincoln, and I say to you frankly I have never known one so outspoken as Benjamin Harrison. No man could fail to feel honored if invited to serve such a President in the most important position in his cabinet."

Editor Cookerill Knows Them of Old. New York Advertiser, Ind.

The Democrats of Ohio, assembled in convention yesterday, listened to an eulogium of Calvin S. Bries at the hands of a Hamilton lawyer, and cheered lustily. This indicates that the pure, patriotic, unselfish Democrats of Ohio know a man with a barrel when they hear about him. And these same fellows will get together and abuse plutocrats and monopolists and railroad wreckers with all the vehemence of their debilitated natures.
